In the days of my political activity, whether speaking here or in northern States, I never referred to this persecution, and would never have done so but for the present chromstance, which forces the necessity. I should have been ungrateful to have done so (and I do not think ingratitude is one of my sins), for no sconer had the outrage been consummated than the sober second thought of an intelligent and generous community came to my relief and showed their condemnation of the injustice done me by electing me again to the office of Commonwealth's attorney, when I received more Democratic votes than were ever given to any man in that county who was not in accord with that party. I refer (without permission) to Hon. S. B. Witt and Folk Miller. Esc., former residents of Prince Edward, for the substantial truth of the statements I have given above, as they know the history of the matter from their intercourse with the people in the county. But I need not rely alone upon them. I received yesterday from a prominent Democratic citizen of Prince Edward, whose name I do not give because his letter is marked "private." the following voluntary letter, warning me of the approaching storm:

Three years since, when my name was mentioned for the position of United States district attermey for this district, I received the following testimonial of my good character as a citizen, the first name upon it being that of the judge who tried the case referred to, and every man being politically opposed to me:

We, the undersigned citizens of Farmville, Va., disagresing politically with Mr. Edgar Allan, but knowing his abinity as a pablic procession, his good character as a citizen, and his failfulness to public trusts, desire to unite our testimony in his hebalf as a candidate for the costion of United States district attorney for the Eastern district of Virginia. He did not, and hence my former letter, Mr. Haskins in his rejoinder says, "As this is a public record I have not hesitated to produce it. In reply I say that with that public record made complete, as I have now made it, I "leave to the same public to determine" whether it estops me from asserting the views I hold on the question of promibilion. If it does, it merely says I ought to be on the other side and in company and feeling with Mr. Haskins, and I trust the public will save me that infliction.

VIENNA, April 24.—The total number of deaths which have resulted from the conflagration which recently devasted the town of Stry is 128. The greater number were caused directly by the flames, but many of the unfortunate people died from exposure, while some died of fright, and a few committed suicide in despair over their irretrievable losses. The burgomaster estimates that it will cost at least $1,200,006 to rebuild the burned houses. The loss on private property was $900,000. Vienna and Cracow insurance companies are liable for $290,000 of these losses.

The Debt Figures. The figures upon which we have relied to prove that not one person in ten can by any possibility pay his taxes in coupons are official—furnished by the Second Auditor. Nobody doubts his reliability. We use these figures, therefore, with as much confidence in their accuracy as we feel in the accuracy of the statements which the same officer makes as to the amount of the public debt, or the amount funded under the RIDDLEBERGER bill, or the amount of Riddles purchased by the Board of sioners of the Sinking Fund.

The other figures that we use are from the census of 1880, which shows that in that year there were in Virginia 334,505 males over twenty-one years old. This number has increased by about 15 per cent. in six years, but we do not need to claim the additional 50,000. But we ask you to remember that 206,000 of the 334,000 were whites, and that the white tax-payers now number, say 236,000. Not one in ten of all the tax-payers, nor one in five of the white ones can by any possibility use

What are the Second Auditor's figures? Read. He says :

The number of the tax-receivable coupons annually maturing is 49,387, distributed in five denominations about as follows: 23,695 of $30 coupons. making $710,850; 17,500 of $15 coupons, making $262,500; 1,340 $7.50 coupons, making $10,050; 4,188 of $3 coupons, making $12,564; and 2,664 of $1.50 coupons, making $3,906."

The whole amount, therefore, that can be paid in coupons smaller than $15 is only $26,610-so small a sum that it is not worthy of being taken into

As it is thus shown by the Second Auditor that all the small tax-payers in the State together would pay only the insignificant sum of $26,610 in coupons if all the coupons under $15 were thus used by them, we may dismiss all those small tax-payers, and, in order to be we may concede that all the $15 coupons may be used in paying taxes, and then inquire how stands the account? Add $26,610 to $262,500 and we have $289,110 paid in coupons and $710,850 of $30 coupons still on hand. Who are to use these? Let us see.

The Second Auditor says there are but 9,695 persons in Virginia who pay more than $25 of taxes. But the fact is that no man who pays a tax of less than $41 can use a $30 coupon at all ; for the Supreme Court of Appeals has recently decided that one fourth of each man's taxes-that part devoted to the public schools-must be paid in money. So also must the capitation tax. So a man paying $40 or even $41 of taxes cannot use even one $30 coupon. Why not? Read :

Whole amount of tax......$41 00 Less one fourth for schools ... $10 25 Less capitation tax....... 80 less than $30. Therefore no man who pays $41 or less can use a $30 coupon. over $41 a year of taxes? There are and several others before they underonly 9,695 paying over $25. What proportion of these pay over $41? As the whole number paying over $25 and up to $500 is 9,695, and as 5,926 of these

Deducted from $41, leaves $29,95, or pay $50 or less, and only 3,769 of them pay over $50, it is evident that there are in Virginia but a very small number of voters who can use $30 coupons, and that, making the most liberal allowance that the bondholders can possibly claim, that number is so small that their influence in any given community must be insignificant indeed. Let us concede, wever, that even half of the person who pay over $25 pay over $41, and then how many persons can use the $30 coupons? The small number of 4,847—not half as many as the number of voters in Richmond alone.

It won't do. There is no use in arguing against facts; and the Second Auditor's figures are facts.

Every adult male tax-payer in Virinia is liable to have his income taxed it exceeds $600 after the deductions allowed by law to be made before taxing it. The law itself provides that the word "income" shall include "salaries," thus destroying by statute the proper meaning of the word "income."

WAVERLY, VA., April 23, 1886.

To the Editor of the Dispatch : Will you please answer for the satisfaction of a subscriber the following—viz.: If local option means that a majority of the people in any locality by vote can decide for or sgainst license, does not anti-localoption mean that they (the latter) are opposed to the majority in any locality having the right of local option?

A SUCSCRIBER. This charge was true of the members of the Legislature who opposed allowing the people the "option" mentioned in the law. But voters are now divided, and will vote upon the question of granting or refusing license, or for and against prohibition. The localoption question was decided by the Legislature. There is no harm, however, in styling the two parties "localoptionists "and" anti-local-optionists," in view of the facts we have just mentioned.

And now to the record: Gentlemen now living in Farmville will bear me out if necessary in the following statement: in september, 1871. I was invited by a friend to go to a bird supper in the room of a gentlemen in Farmville; that I went with him. having no idea that any gaming of any kind ever had been or would then be carried on there; that when I got in the room the game referred to was going on. The owner of the parapherania was there and began to express surprise at my being brought there and fear that I would expose what was going on. Perhaps Mr. Haskins, under such circumstances, might have thought it his duty to leave and begin prosecutions against those present; perhaps I took the wrong view of it. At any rate, I said. "I will salisfy you I am not going to take any notice of what I have seen," and, remaining there. I played a short time at a game I had never seen or heard of in my life before, and for about ten minutes I "dealt" the game for several who were presend, and after supper lieft. The german given here last Saturday rening was a most delightful affair, but was not so largely attended by the young gentlemen of Richmond as the one which occurred here last week.

The steamer Fortune came down from the yard Saturday afternoon with a party of ladies and gentlemen to call on Mrs. J. G. C. Walker and her friends, and remained until 10 o'clock. few of them remaining over for the german. Among the party were Captain and Mrs. Brown, Commander Cot-ton, Pay-Director Rufus Parks and wife, Lieutenant-Commander E. W. Watson, Mrs. Watson, Miss Watson, Lieutenant William G. Cutter, Paymaster Leeds C. Kerr, Lieutenant W. F. Waller, Marine Corps; Royall Faragut, Miss Elkins, Miss Warfield, Miss Taylor, and Miss North.

There was quite a lively scene in the harbor on Monday last. The North German corvette Louise, which has been at Norfolk for the past two or three months, came down to the Roads and anchored off the hotel. She ran the American ensign up to the mast-head and fired a salute of twenty-one guns, which was returned by the Co-lumbiads of the water battery. In the evening about 5 o'clock this vessel was joined by the brig Mousquite, also one of the German training ships, which has been cruising in the West Indies during the winter. She is a sailing vessel, and was towed into the Roads by the steamer Pilot, of Baltimore. There are a number of distinguished gentlemen on board the Louise, which is officered as follows: Count Von Haukwetz, commanding; Captain Pfass, Count Von Moltke, captain; Lieutenants Baron Von Schimmerman, Dassel, Goerricke, and Schaeffer. The Mosquito is officered as follows: Major Pirali commanding; Captain Guerlick, Lieutenants Capella, Krause, Meiring, and Goetta, Dr. Buerger, Lieutenant Scherlack, paymaster.

The Louise expects to sail for Europe on Wednesday next; the Mosquito will follow her about May 10th. During their stay here the apprentices will come ashore and drill on the parade-ground of the fort, which will be a novel sight for the visitors here, as the German manual is considerably different from that in use in our army.

Many of the officers speak English fairly well, but when they become earnest in their conversation, "drop into German." The officers of the garrison have extended to them the pospitalities of the club, official visits have been exchanged between General Tidbott and the commanders, and as the ladies have kindly offered to teach them the "german" their stay here promises to be a pleasant one.

"It never rains but it pours," and on Monday night we had another distinguished arrival here, the Duke of Sutherland on his yacht "Sans Peur," from Fernandina, and a party of friends. She sailed from Southampton November 6th, and has been cruising in the West Indies and Gulf since that time. She was at Jamaica when Count De Lesseps and his party arrived, and the Count induced him to run over to Colon and take a look at the canal.

The party had bad weather coming p the coast, and decided to return nome by the Servia. They left here Tuesday morning for New York via the New York, Philadelphia and Norfolk railroad. The party consisted of about of the Civil War, Northern and they dropped out from time to time until Captain Haydon, Dr. Gaylord, and Mrs. Blair and daughter, with their maid, were all that remained.

The Duke is a tall man, with a gray beard and pleasant face, and is probably sixty years of age. He is one of the wealthiest men in England, and has considerable money invested in the cattle business in Montana. General A. D. Hazen, chief signal navy, on the retired list, is spending a few days at the hotel.

Ex-Governor William E. Cameron arrived here on Saturday evening, and will spend a couple of days at the post, where he has many friends among the officers of the garrison.

The Hygeia still keeps crowded, and the two seasons promise to be merged. A number of the guests, tempted by the extreme hot weather, went in bathing, and pronounced it superb.

RICHMOND, VA., April 24, 1886. To the Editor of the Dispatch: RICHMOND, VA., April 24, 1886.

To the Editor of the Dispatch:

Since you liberally gave over a column of your paper this morning to allow Mr. Haskins to "comply with my request" for the publication of the "record" referred to by him in his recent speech, i beg your kindness in permitting me a reply, which, in contradistinction to one whose language "was of a character to alleviate rather than aggravate what he knew" of my public record, will give your readers "the fruth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth."

I confess I did not believe that even my bitterest enemy, if he knew nothing of the facts I am about to publish, would have stooped to the device Mr. Haskins has employed to find an argument against my advocacy of the cause of prohibition; much less would I have imagined that Mr. Haskins with his knowledge of the facts and his pretended friendahlp for me during meny years past, would have given this occurred demonstration that his friendahlp was but "a mockery, a delusion, and a smare." or that he would stab a man while he embraced him.

I heard the voice of Jesus say,

"Come unto me and rest;
Lay down, thou weary one, lay down
Thy head upon my breast";
I came to Jesus as I was
Weary, and worn, and sad;
I found in Him a resting-place,
And He has made me glad.

The Southwestern and Other Strikes.

[By telegraph to the Dispatch.]

WASHINGTON, April 24.—The indications now are that the select committee charged with an investigation of the southwestern strikes will not leave this city for St. Louis before Wednesday next, as several of the members are interested in matters likely to be acted upon in the House during the early part of the coming week.

INCREASING WAGES.

INCREASING WAGES. COLUMBUS, GA., April 24 .- The directors of the Eagle and Phoenix Cotton-Manufacturing Company of this city have decided to increase the wages of their operatives 10 per cent., the in crease to take place May 1st. About 2,000 operatives are affected. No demand was made or dissatisfaction expressed at the former wages. WILL FOREGO INTEREST.

NEW YORK, April 24 .- The Third-Avenue railroad officials are receiving many letters from stockholders of the road expressing their willingness to forego interest if the company may thereby be aided to maintain the stand it has taken. President Lyon to-night said: "We are firmer now in our position than at any time before. We feel we are to be congratulated on our success so far." Seventy cars were run to-day on the Third-Avenue and eight on the One-Hundred-and-Twentyfifth-Screet Line. The company intend to run eighty cars to-morrow on the Third-Avenue and fourteen on the One-Hundred-and-Twenty-fifth-Street Line. AN EMPLOYER'S ADDRESS. Sr. Louis, April 24.-Yesterday afternoon President McMillan, of the Missouri Car and Foundry Company, tion of that order in the United States, called together in the foundry department of his establishment their fifty moulders who did not join the recent strike of the other employees. He ex plained to them the position of the company and promised them constant employment if they would remain at their posts during the present trouble. He then requested that all the men who would stand by him and continue work under any and all circumstances to so signify. All except two men made the promise, and the foundry work of the company still continues. In the evening the striking employees held a meeting and appointed a commit-tee to request for the last time President McMillan to promise not to supply the Missouri Pacific Railway Company with repair material. The committee will call upon Mr. McMillan to-day.

THE KNIGHTS AND THE AUGUSTA MILLS.

AUGUSTA, GA., April 24.-Rev. J. S. Meynardie, master-workman of the Knights of Labor, gives it as his opinion that there will be no strike in the cot-ton-mills here if the presidents will confer with the Executive Board.

The Knights held a meeting to-night, t which it was estimated that 1,500 Knights were present, men and women. The master-workman says that they do not intend to strike; all that the Knights want is fair wages for their work. They want arbitration.
